

- the other vehicle is about to make a left turn;
- you are on an unobstructed highway with two or more lanes moving in the same direction; or
- you are on an unobstructed one-way roadway wide enough for two lanes or more.

When being passed by another vehicle, you must yield to the other vehicle and not increase your speed.

You may not pass:

- where there is a no-passing zone;
- where the solid yellow line is on your side of the center of the roadway;
- where there are double solid yellow lines;
- when passing will interfere with the safe operation of oncoming vehicles;
- when approaching the top of the hill or on a curve and you do not have a sufficiently clear view ahead;
- when crossing or within 100 feet of an intersection or railroad grade crossing;
- when the view is obstructed upon approaching within 100 feet of any bridge, elevated roadway, or tunnel;
- on the shoulder of the highway either to the right or to the left.

J. General Parking Rules

You are responsible for making sure that your vehicle is not a hazard when it is parked. A parked vehicle must be in a space that is far enough from any travel lane to avoid interfering with traffic and visible to vehicles approaching from either direction.

You should always:

- park in a designated area as required;
- when parking along the roadway, park your vehicle as far away from traffic as possible. If there is a curb, park as close to it as possible.
- set your parking brake when you park.
- place the vehicle in gear if it has a manual transmission or in 'park' if it has an automatic transmission;
- check your mirrors and traffic before opening the door. Shut the door as soon as you can after getting out;
- Take the ignition keys with you. It is a good habit to lock the doors whenever you leave your vehicle.
